What is a level 3
research question?

Open-Ended Research Question

Level 1: Questions that can be answered with knowledge you have right now

Level 2: Questions that can be definitively answered with scholarly research

Level 3: Open-ended questions to which an answer can be proposed based on scholarly research but that cannot be answered definitively

Level 4: Questions that cannot be addressed with scholarly research, either because of a lack of evidence or because they ask something that cannot be answered by citing evidence

Which level am I?

Level Up!

- Level 1: Questions that can be answered with knowledge you have right now
- Level 2: Questions that can be definitively answered with scholarly research
- Level 3: Questions to which an answer can be proposed based on scholarly research but that cannot be answered definitively
- Level 4: Questions that cannot be addressed with scholarly research, either because of a lack of evidence or they ask something that cannot be answered

- When was Germany re-unified?

- Which religion is more violent: Christianity or Islam?

- How do Asian philosophies shape and inform modern Western medical practices and methodologies?

- What was the difference between German and Italian fascism?

- What is the meaning of life?

The Results

Did they find
refereed
sources?

■ No ■ Yes

What types of sources did they find?

Stakeholder Feedback

- Overall, librarians, the MMW coordinator, course instructors and TAs liked the flipped model
  - Beneficial to writing program and the library
- Future changes:
  - More emphasis on peer-reviewed sources in the tutorial
  - Have a TA in the library workshops
  - Rearrange when the library interactions take place

Conclusion

- Further implementation
- Next steps and new ideas
